

CENTER FOR WELLNESS

Dear New Student,

Congratulations on your acceptance to Wentworth Institute of Technology! The Center for Wellness provides counseling services, accessibility services, health promotion and education, as well as Fitness and Recreation. We look forward to partnering with you to facilitate a positive, successful experience in higher education.

For students wishing to disclose a mental health history, please complete Section 2 on the Accessibility Services Disclosure Form found here, Accessibility Disclosure, or go to <https://wit.edu/wellness-disability-services/disability-services> (please note, an active Wentworth email address is required to complete this form.) The Center for Wellness at Wentworth offers free and confidential counseling services to students on a short term basis. In addition, referrals to off campus counselors or psychiatrists can be provided.

For students wishing to pursue academic accommodations, please complete Section 3 on the Accessibility Services Disclosure Form found here, Accessibility Disclosure, or go to <https://wit.edu/wellness-disability-services/disability-services> (please note, an active Wentworth email address is required to complete this form), and upload supporting documentation. Wentworth is committed to providing a supportive environment that allows students to participate in the life of the community. The Institute subscribes to the policies set forth in the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments Act of 2008 (ADAAA) and in Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, which mandate equal opportunity in educational programs and activities for students with disabilities. In general, the ADAAA defines an individual with a disability as any individual who "has a physical or mental impairment which substantially limits one or more major life activities of such individual; has a record of such impairment; or is regarded as having an impairment."

Students with medical, physical, psychiatric, and learning disabilities are eligible to access the Center for Wellness to arrange for reasonable accommodations. Students with disabilities are fully integrated into the community. There are no separate class sections or special programs for students with disabilities. As a relatively small institution, Wentworth seeks to provide individual attention, support, and reasonable accommodations for individuals with disabilities.

To receive services, an individual must voluntarily disclose their disability using the Accessibility Disclosure form, which can also be found at <https://wit.edu/wellness-disability-services/disability-services> (please note, an active Wentworth email address is required to complete this form), provide documentation as required by the institution, and request specific services. Students are expected to request services in a timely fashion and are strongly encouraged to contact the Center for Wellness at least six weeks prior to the start of their academic career at Wentworth.

Documentation for learning disorders and attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (AD/HD) should include the results of a current psycho-social or neuropsychological evaluation performed by a qualified professional. It is customary that the evaluation will also include recommendations for accommodations as well as instructional and study strategies. With the individual's permission, information regarding the nature of the disability and the kinds of accommodations needed will be shared with faculty and other persons who may need to be involved in the provision of services.
